

Interview Tips & Tricks

What to expect...

- For first round interviews, you will meet with 1-2 consultants for 30 minutes
- For final round interviews, you will meet with approximately 3-5 consultants
- Schedules may vary based on office location
- All interviews will be behavioral based (no formal case interview)
- You will have an opportunity to ask questions about the Analyst or Summer Analyst positions and the firm

What we assess...

Our teams will be assessing you on many different dimensions, such as:

- Problem solving, critical thinking, and analytical reasoning
- Strong understanding of the research, data projects, or internship opportunities you have chosen to talk through
- Your experience or interest in programming
- Your demonstrated ability to successfully collaborate with others

What we look for...

Interviewers will be looking for candidates who possess strong communication, teamwork, leadership, and technical & quantitative skills, and who express an interest in learning more about economic consulting at AG!

What we recommend...

We encourage you to review all aspects of your resume and prior experiences that you wish to highlight so that they are fresh in your mind.

We also recommend that you browse Analysis Group's website to learn more about economic consulting and what we do. Come prepared with any questions you may have!

What we might ask...

- Walk me through a project or experience in which you had to analyze data. What kind of model did you use and why did this seem like the right approach? What were some of the challenges you faced?
- What types of experiences have you had using statistical programming languages to analyze data?
- Can you talk about a time when you had to describe a technical concept to an audience without a technical background?
- Please describe a time when you were able to persuade someone of your point of view.
